Engelsk — To Have i datid · A

Navn: _____

Dato: _____

i Sådan bøjer du to have i datid

I datid betyder to have havde. Det er nemt: I datid hedder det altid had, uanset hvem der havde noget. I nutid hedder det have eller has. Ord som yesterday, last week og ago viser, at det er datid.

had datid: bruges med alle: I had, she had, they had has kun nutid: he, she, it. Husk at skifte til had i datid

Hvem	Nutid	Datid	Dansk
I	have	had	jeg havde
you	have	had	du havde
he / she / it	has	had	han, hun, den havde
we	have	had	vi havde
you	have	had	I havde
they	have	had	de havde

1 Er det nu eller datid? Indsæt have, has eller had

opg. 1–12

1. Yesterday we _____ pizza.
2. Last summer I _____ a cold.
3. Last week Emma _____ a party.
4. Two days ago he _____ a test.
5. Last year they _____ a dog.
6. My dad _____ a red car now.
7. Last night we _____ fish.
8. Long ago people _____ no phones.
9. Today I _____ a lot of homework.
10. Last Monday you _____ a good day.
11. Yesterday the cat _____ a bath.
12. She _____ long hair today.

Husk dette!

Ord som yesterday, last week og ago viser, at det er datid. Så skal du bruge had.
Eksempel: I have a cold today. → I had a cold yesterday.

Engelsk — To Have i datid · A

Navn: _____

Dato: _____

2 Oversæt til dansk

engelsk → dansk

1. We had fun yesterday.

2. They had a dog last year.

3. I had a red bike.

4. She had a cat last year.

5. The house had a big garden.

6. My grandpa had a farm.

3 Oversæt til engelsk

dansk → engelsk

1. Vi havde engelsk i går.

2. Han havde en god dag.

3. Jeg havde ondt i hovedet i går.

4. Vi havde en god tur.

5. De havde en stor hund.

6. Hun havde en blå jakke.

Husk dette!

has findes kun i nutid. I datid hedder det altid had, også med he, she og it.
Eksempel: She has a dog now. → She had a dog last year.